1. At a conference on 1 July 1949 between Chief of Police General Arturo Bertollo and President Peron,* it was agreed that the Argentine Federal Police force would receive wage increases by 1 September 1949. If the raises are not granted by that date, a strike will be called.
2. The police have demanded an increase of 100 pesos a month, which would bring their total monthly salary to 500 pesos. The police demands also call for fewer duties and training classes and shorter working hours.
3. At present 800 vacancies exist in the police force which cannot be filled because of a lack of interested candidates.

Comment. [REDACTED] that a compromise of 430-450 pesos monthly will be offered and accepted.
